READY SEPTEMBER 7

The New Novel by ANTHONY HOPE, author of "Quisante," "Phroso," "The Prisoner of Zenda," etc.

A SERVANT of the PUBLIC

This story, in Mr. Hope's happiest vein, promises to be his most successful recent novel. It is a sympathetic study of the private life and feelings of a famous actress—of how her profession influenced her actions and made her what she was. While about an actress it is not about the stage, and holds nothing in common with the conventional novel of the theater.

Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50

Ready Sept. 14th

The SPECULATIONS of JOHN STEELE

By ROBERT BARR, author of "The Victors," "Tekla," etc.

Recently published serially in the Saturday Evening Post.

A story of modern American business and political life, dealing intimately with great questions that are at present agitating the public mind.

With 8 illustrations by F. R. Gruger. 12mo, cloth, $1.50

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY
Publishers, New York

Both of the two most notable novels of the summer should go into your vacation trunk

Mr. Maurice Hewlett's      The Fool Errant

BEING THE MEMOIRS OF FRANCIS-ANTONY STRELLEY, ESQ., CITIZEN OF LUCCA

is a tale of eighteenth century Italy, whimsical in its vivacity, exquisite in its distinguished style. The Boston Herald says: "It strolls down the avenue of contemporary fiction with a gipsy vagabondage that is enticing and enchanting."

Uniform with "The Forest Lovers," etc. Cloth, $1.50

Mr. Robert Herrick's      The Memoirs of an American Citizen

is a crisp, vigorous, straightforward story of the way Van Harrington made his success in life. Intensely absorbing as a story, it is also a document of startling significance, thoroughly "American" in spirit, reflecting the present day and hour as no other does with equal interest.

Illustrated drawings by F. B. Masters. Cloth, $1.50

And some of these according to your taste and leisure

BARBARA'S

At the Sign of the Fox

is a fresh, sweet and wholesome story by the author of "The Garden of a Commuter's Wife," with the atmosphere of open-air New England—"A good book for the summer season—or any other."—Boston Advertiser.

Cloth, $1.50

JOHN HEIGH'S

The House of Cards

is the record by a sometime major of volunteers of an old-time romance. Its scenes are so closely related to Philadelphia life of the past fifty years as to raise an uncommon interest in the identity of the author, who possesses at once such wit and literary skill, and so much first-hand knowledge.

Cloth, $1.50

CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK'S

The Storm Centre

has the civil war atmosphere for its background, but is a well-told amusing story more of flirtation, courtship and love than of fighting or history.

Cloth, $1.50

Miss ROBINS'S

A Dark Lantern

is a novel of the English social order. The Reader has no hesitation in saying that with one exception "no book so fascinating, so essentially romantic, so charged with those qualities of charm which constituted the strength of Charlotte Brontë's work, has appeared for a long time."

Cloth, $1.50

Mrs. BANKS'S

The Little Hills

is full of quaint half-forgotten, old-time fragrances; as her "Oldfield" suggested sweet lavender, this leaves behind it the spicy odor of pinks.

Cloth, $1.50

Mr. JACK LONDON'S

The Game

"Nothing Mr. London has written is better than this brief, yet tremendously forceful story."—Times-Union, Albany.

"Taken as a whole, the story is a tremendously good one."—Argonaut. Cloth, $1.50

A FOOL FOR LOVE

THE NEW POCKET BOOK

Drawn by George Brehm for "A Fool for Love"

Everybody who reads fiction read "The Grafters," and knows that nobody can tell a tale of railroad life like Francis Lynde.

In his new novelette he has combined a thrilling right-of-way war between two Colorado railroads and a love story of peculiar charm and power.

The plot moves with the rapidity of those drumming wheels that resound through the pages.

NOTES IN SEASON.

IN the Educational List, 1905, the publications of W. R. Jenkins should be marked with a dagger (†), indicating that these books are at ordinary retail prices, postage included, instead of with an asterisk (*). We regret this error, as especial pains were taken to obtain correct information regarding prices in the recent revision, even to the extent of sending registered letters to all publishers who did not respond to our earlier inquiries.

BOBBS-MERRILL Co. have just ready two novels of typical American life. "The Man of the Hour," by Octave Thanet, describes the son of a self-made man and a Russian princess who put Tolstoyan theories to practical test in dealing with the labor conditions in the Middle West in the time of the great Pullman strike, fifteen years back. "A Fool for Love," by Francis Lynde, tells of the building of a "rival road" to a mining camp just beyond Denver, and of the young engineer's perplexities in fighting the uncle of the girl who strove to make him "a fool for love." The latter story is one of the pretty little Pocket Books that are all devoted to crisp, original, well-told tales.

THOMAS B. MOSHER, Portland, Me., has just ready a second and augmented edition of "The Poetical Works of Oscar Wilde," including the entire text of the following separate works: "Ravenna," (The Newdigate Prize Poem of 1878;) "The Poems," (as issued in 1881;) "The Sphinx," (1894;) "The Ballad of Reading Gaol," (1898;) together with eight heretofore uncollected poems, viz: Le Jardin des Tuileries; With a copy of "A House of Pomegranates;" The True Knowledge; On the Recent Sale by Auction of Keats' Love Letters; The New Remorse; The Harlot's House; Under the Balcony; Wasted Days. This edition has for frontispiece the London portrait of Wilde, taken by Ellis and Walery in 1892, and reproduced by the Bierstadt process in albertype.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD COMPANY will publish August 26 "A Daughter of the South," by George Cary Eggleston, a romance of the end of the Civil War, of which the scene is the lower Mississippi River; and "The Little Green Door," by Mary E. Stone Bassett, a story of the time of Louis XIII., to whose garden the little door leads. For "The Daughter of the South" and for "The Boss of Little Arcady," by Harry Leon Wilson, author of "The Spenders," the publishers have received large advance orders from Australia. The fourth impression is needed of "Lalitha Cumi," Annie J. Holland's Christian Science novel, published last fall. In the early spring of 1906 Dwight Tilton will have a novel ready entitled "The Golden Greyhound," fully up to date with the latest discoveries in wireless telegraphy.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish September 16 "Rose o' the River," by Kate Douglas Wiggin, illustrated in color by George Wright. It is a charming story of the Saco River, Maine, with its wild beauty, its exciting log-driving, its heroism and romance, all described by the magic pen that drew for us the portrait of "Rebecca." In October there is promised an exquisite holiday edition of "Her Letter," one of the three classic poems that made "the love-suit on Poverty Flat," for which Arthur I. Keller has made nine full-page colored illustrations and over thirty full-page sketches in tint, many head and tail pieces and a decorative cover. This bids fair to rank among the most artistic and pleasing holiday books of the coming season. Just ready is "The Green Shay," by George S. Wasson, a story of one of those Maine coast villages which the decline of the fishing industry has left to perish slowly, deserted by the young and hopeful element.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

 The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); L. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fs. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., mar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

American bankruptcy reports, annotated, (cited Am. b.r.;) reporting the bankruptcy decisions and opinions in the United States of the federal courts, state courts and referees in bankruptcy; ed. by J: T. Cook and W: Millier Collier. v. 13. Alb., Matthew Bender & Co., 1905. c. 23+852 p. O. shp., $5.

Artists' (The) year book: a handy reference book wherein may be found interesting data pertaining to artists, and their studio, home and summer addresses, for 1905-1906; comp. and ed. by Arthur N: Hosking. Chic., Art League Publishing Association, [1905.] c. 229 p. O. cl., $3; bds., $2.50.

The 2500 living artists whose names are included in this book, have all had works accepted for public exhibition by recognized art juries in our prominent art museums, institutes or clubs, etc.; or (if they have never made a practice of appearing in exhibitions), they have been prominently brought before the public, through illustrations and designs of a meritorious character in our large, influential magazines and publications. They are all Americans by birth or citizenship. The plan followed is that of "Who's Who?" The artist's speciality and his medium of production immediately follows the name, then the facts of his career are grouped as compactly as possible.

The author discovered for himself with much study that the Catholic church was not more apostolic than the non-Catholic churches. He came out from its fold, but he found the Protestant churches fighting about non-essentials. He resolved to believe in God, in Christ and an infallible Bible, to go to all Protestant churches, and to work among all church members to make them Christians living up to the great essential doctrine of love to God and love to man.

This revision was undertaken by Harvard University because of an unaccountable discrepancy which appeared in the composition of a sample of very pure sodic bromide as compared with the results of Jean Servais Stas in his classical work on the subject. Regretfully the writers admit that a critical study of the work of Stas upon sodium in particular reveals several possibilities of error and at least one inconsistency. Twelve very important points revealed by the investigation are given in the summary of the treatise.

Deals with a chapter in the history of Illinois and the early west. The story of the fierce, turbulent, and inconstant Fox tribe is traced, beginning with its migration from its early seat north from Montreal to Michigan, to Green Bay, and finally to its well-known home in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois. The geography of the Northwest from 1680 to 1783 is presented in sixteen maps, some of them previously inaccessible to American readers.

- "Johnny-Ivan" Winslow's father was a self-made man, hard-headed but just in his dealings with his employees in the big plough works. His mother was a Russian princess, imbued with Socialistic theories, beautiful and passionate, who had married the American in order to escape from Russian tyranny. Naturally the marriage was a failure and when "Johnny-Ivan" was ten years old, his parents separated, the boy remaining with his father. An introspective, loving, winning child, he grew to manhood torn between loyalty to his adored mother and duty to his father, whom he learned too late to appreciate. After leaving Harvard, he proceeded to put into practice his Tolstoyan theories, throwing in his lot with Chicago working men, contributing his fortune to the Pullman strike, of which there are many glimpses, and, finally, supporting himself and three orphaned children as a steel worker. The labor conditions in the Middle West of fifteen years ago are worked into the plot.

Wilson, Harry Leon. The boss of little Arcady; il. by Rose Cecil O'Neill. Bost., Lothrop Publishing Co., [1905.] c. 7+371 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The author of "The Spenders" here tells the story of a little village community in an ideal spot in the Middle West. The boss at first was an importer. He was killed; his wife appeared and taught the village many things. Then came a Southern woman of great charm, then the character who so humorously tells the story, then his love. In turn each was a "boss" and the village grew and learned under each influence. The village paper and its editor were also live forces in the little town just "after the war was over."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 12, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION'S STATEMENTS.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION, in the two statements, respectively to the booktrade and to the public, which we reprint elsewhere, makes a strong presentation of the present legal status of the reform movement, as so far determined in what are known as the Macy suits, and of its position in the matter. The essential points are these three:

1. The copyright proprietor is assured under the constitution and copyright law an absolute monopoly in his book. This principle is laid down in numerous patent, as well as in copyright cases, by the United States Supreme Court, and by the New York Court of Appeals, represented by Judge Parker in 1901.

2. The decision as to how far this power extends is yet to be finally decided. In the patent case of the Victor Talking Machine, the Federal Court of Appeals in Illinois held that the right of a proprietor to control prices extends to the ultimate buyer, while Judge Ray, of the Federal Circuit Court of New York, a court one degree lower than the other, has held that the final control of price cannot be implied under the copyright law by a notice on the part of the seller, and must be a question of contractual relation between the publisher and the retailer.

3. The American Publishers' Association does not "fix prices," and it is not a trust. It was decided in the New York Court of Appeals that it could not protect prices on non-copyright books, and the Association has withdrawn from that field, and modified its plans accordingly; but this opinion of Judge Parker and his associates specifically indicated that the Association had a right to protect the prices of copyright books under its plan, and the obiter dictum of Judge Ray to the contrary is of less authority than the former decision.

The Association has its strong belief that the opinion of Judge Parker, and not that of Judge Ray, will prevail when the question is finally tested in the courts of last resort. In the face of numerous mistakes, the booktrade should feel assured, and should assure customers, that the citadel of the reform plan has not been successfully attacked, and in every essential point it is likely to be upheld and fulfilled.

It is gratifying to note that the citizens of Norway and those of the United States will hereafter be reciprocally protected as to their literary property, in their respective countries, as declared in the proclamation of the President, recently promulgated by the Copyright Office. Norway has, perhaps, the most important literature of any of the smaller nations, a literature which is essentially in vogue in the United States, and American books are more or less in demand in Norway. It is with especial gratification that Americans will hail this act of justice to Björnson, Ibsen, Grieg and their associates.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION ON JUDGE RAY'S DECISION.

THE AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION has just addressed the following circular to the trade:

Much confusion has lately arisen from newspaper articles apparently inspired by the undersellers stating that the recent decision of Judge Ray of the United States Circuit Court was in effect to declare the American Publishers' Association illegal.

This is not so. His decision in no way affects the American Publishers' Association, which has already been declared entirely legal and within its rights in maintaining prices on copyrighted books, by the New York Court of Appeals. The decision of Judge Ray is merely one of a lower court, denying the application of Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons and The Bobbs-Merrill Company, two individual publishers, for an injunction restraining the undersellers, R. H. Macy & Company, from cutting prices on their copyrighted books.

Briefly stated, the present situation is as follows: The American Publishers' Association has been upheld in their position as above stated by the New York Court of Appeals in Straus vs. American Publishers' Association. Following this decision, two individual publishers, Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons and The Bobbs-Merrill Company, attempted to go a step farther, and establish their right to the aid of the courts, in preventing the undersellers, R. H. Macy & Company, from cutting the prices on their books. To do this, they followed the reasoning of the United States Supreme Court in cases on copyright and patent, where it has been repeatedly held that, "The very object of these laws is monopoly"—in other words, that when the government grants a patent or a copyright protecting the owner from competition for a certain number of years, he is given a monopoly of the strongest sort and protected in it by the Constitution of the United States. In patent cases (Victor Talking Machine) it has already been held that this monopoly gives to the owner of it the right to fix his price and to restrain anyone from selling at less. The two publishers above mentioned, feeling as does the American Publishers' Association, that the two kinds of monopoly, copyright and patent, were essentially similar, placed notices, one on their bills, the other in their books, stating the price below which they would not allow the books sold. When these prices were broken by the undersellers, they then entered suit, stating that they had been injured in their monopoly in the same manner in which the owners of patent articles were injured in theirs, and asking for the same sort of relief, namely, an injunction restraining the undersellers from continuing.

This application is that which Judge Ray, sitting in the lowest United States Court, has just denied on two very technical grounds: First, he doubted whether the rule in patent cases would apply because of certain verbal differences between the patent and the copyright laws; second, he was of the opinion that the language of the notices was not sufficiently precise.

Of course, these views are entitled to the respect due to Judge Ray's position and experience, but whether this narrow and technical application of the copyright law will be sustained by the Federal Courts of Appeals remains to be seen. The learned Judge having thus disposed of the one point raised by the publishers, then proceeded to consider quite a different question, namely, whether these concerns were not open to criticism as being parties to an illegal combination existing for the purpose of controlling the trade and monopolizing interstate commerce. Judge Lacombe, of the United States Circuit Court, had previously decided that allegations made by Macy & Company to the effect that we were an illegal combination, were "impertinent," or in other words that they had nothing to do with the case. Nevertheless, Judge Ray, in spite of this decision of the Circuit Judge went on to express himself at great length, and with great freedom and considerable rhetorical emphasis upon the question of the validity of the American Publishers' Association.

As stated above, this has already been decided in our favor by the highest court of the state, the Court of Appeals, and was not in any way on trial in the present case.

Everyone who has any acquaintance with the workings of the American Publishers' Association, knows very well that it is in no sense a "trust" or combination of the kind which the Sherman Anti-Trust Law was intended to suppress. It is an Association merely for the regulation and correction of certain abuses in the trade.

In conclusion, we wish to assure our members and the trade that it is the intention of Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons and The Bobbs-Merrill Company to continue their efforts in securing a reversal of this opinion of a lower court. An appeal from Judge Ray's decision is to be taken as soon as possible, and we are confident that the higher court may be relied upon not to fall into the very patent error into which Judge Ray has inadvertently been led, and which has obviously vitiated all his conclusions.

Permit us to say further that no attention should be given to the many rumors circulated and mis-statements inspired with the evident intention of discrediting our Association. There has never been a time in the history of the present movement when the Association was in better condition, and we feel more than ever convinced of the ultimate success of our plan.

AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

F. C. J. Tessaro, Manager.

The association with a view of counteracting the wrong impression circulated through the advertisements of Macy & Co., has also addressed the following circular to the public which has been printed in the more important newspapers throughout the country:

In view of the statements recently made about the American Publishers' Association by a Department Store with which we have been having a legal controversy, there is danger of confusion in the public mind as to the exact character of this Association.

In the first place it should be clearly understood that it is not a "Trust" in any sense of the word. It has no capital stock; there is no combination or merger of interests of any kind; its members conduct their several businesses quite independently of each other. The terms, "Publishers' Trust," and "Book Trust," can no more properly be applied to it than to the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, which it very much resembles, being an association of publishers who have simply come together to endeavor to correct certain abuses of the trade; and similar associations exist in many other branches of business.

One of the most flagrant of these abuses has been the practice of certain stores of advertising and selling at cost or even less certain publications of which the prices were well known in order to attract customers to their stores and sell them other articles on which a handsome profit could be made. One store prominent in New York had for years been accustomed to sell a popular thirty-five cent magazine at twenty-four or twenty-five cents a copy, although the store regularly purchased it in large quantities at twenty-eight cents a copy—an actual loss of three or four cents being sustained on each copy sold. New copyrighted books were sold in the same manner, and for the same purpose, accompanied by the advertisement that “the saving on books to our patrons is much less than the saving of all other lines of merchandise.” To persons acquainted with the facts the object of this advertising is apparent. It is intended to attract the public to this store in order to sell at a profit other lines of merchandise of which the legitimate price is not generally known. Profits realized on the latter class of goods must of necessity more than counterbalance the loss sustained by the former class, since it is evident that no store can sell all goods at cost and not become bankrupt.

While not directly affecting the publishers who receive their wholesale prices for all books sold, the effect of this cut-throat business in the trade was demoralizing and disastrous. One cut of the kind led to others in self defence or retaliation, until every holiday season saw half the dealers of the country selling certain books at practically no profit or even at a loss. Very few of the booksellers or department stores, however, themselves believed in this questionable practise or desired its continuance, and with very few exceptions they were prepared to co-operate, and they have done so most cordially, with the American Publishers' Association in its endeavors to stop this manifest abuse and enable all dealers to make a living profit, instead of treating books simply as an advertising medium.

But we have not endeavored to accomplish our object by a “Trust,” or by any combination or regulations to which there can be any legal or reasonable objection. We do not fix prices, as has been erroneously reported. On the contrary, every publisher fixes his own prices and manages his own business, the efforts of the Association being merely to help him maintain the price which he has fixed.

One large department store has, however, from the beginning, steadily opposed the movement, and its proprietors at once began a suit against the Association on the ground that it was a combination in restraint of trade. This case was duly carried up to the Court of Appeals of the State of New York, which, in a decision handed down in February, 1904, by Judge Parker, declared that we were entirely within our rights in endeavoring thus to maintain the prices of copyrighted books published by our members. Indeed it was held by this court that “public policy commands the conduct of business in such a way as to serve all consumers alike.”

The recent decision by Judge Ray in the Circuit Court was on the application of two individual publishers who were endeavoring to go a step further, to obtain an injunction legally restraining the underseller from selling copyrighted books at cut rates. This, it should be noted, the Association has never attempted to do. The most its members have ever done has been simply to decline to sell to dealers who will not maintain prices, which under the decision above quoted, publishers have a clear right to do. The question as to the right of the publisher of a copyrighted book to regulate its price, or Judge Ray's decision on this point, has therefore nothing to do with the status of the American Publishers' Association. We may say, however, that this matter has not as yet been by any means definitely decided. We learn that it is the intention of the individual publishers at once to appeal the case, and since it has been repeatedly held that copyrights are upon practically the same basis as patents, and as the right of the owners of patents thus to control prices has been definitely affirmed by the United States Court, we are quite positive that this same Court will yet decide this question in the publishers' favor.

COPYRIGHT TREATY WITH NORWAY.

We waited for authoritative copy from the Copyright Office and are a little late in giving the full text of the proclamation of the President issued July 1 of this year, extending to citizens of Norway the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis that that country grants to citizens of the United States:

WHEREAS, it is provided by section 13 of the act of Congress of March 3, 1891, entitled “An Act to amend title sixty, chapter three, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to copyrights,” that said act “shall only apply to a citizen or subject of a foreign state or nation when such foreign state or nation permits to citizens of the United States of America the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as its own citizens; or when such foreign state or nation is a party to an international agreement which provides for reciprocity in the granting of copyright, by the terms of which agreement the United States of America may, at its pleasure, become a party to such agreement.”

And whereas it is also provided by said section that “the existence of either of the conditions aforesaid shall be determined by the President of the United States by proclamation made from time to time as the purposes of this act may require.”

And whereas satisfactory official assurances have been given that in Norway the law permits to citizens of the United States the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as to the citizens of that country:

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do declare and proclaim that the first of the conditions specified in section 13 of the act of March 3, 1891, is now fulfilled in respect to the subjects of Norway.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this first day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and five, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twenty-ninth.

By the President: THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
HERBERT H. D. PEIRCE,
Acting Secretary of State.

THE BRITISH IMPERIAL COPYRIGHT ACT IN FORCE IN CANADA.

ACCORDING to the Canadian Bookseller, a cable has been received from London advising that the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has affirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada in the case of Adam and Charles Black vs. the Imperial Book Company.

"The case involved the British copyright in the 'Encyclopædia Britannica.' A. and C. Black, of Edinburgh, are the owners of the Imperial copyright in this work, and they brought action in Toronto to restrain the Imperial Book Company importing into Canada cheap reprints of the 'Encyclopædia.' The principal defence of the Imperial Book Company was that the British Copyright Act of 1842 is not in force in Canada.

"Judge Street, who tried the case originally, held that the Imperial Acts were in force in Canada, and were unaffected by the terms of the British North America Act, which created only a local or strictly Canadian copyright, leaving unaffected the rights acquired or existing under the Imperial statute. This decision was affirmed by the Court of Appeals for Ontario, and by the Supreme Court of Canada. The Imperial Book Company applied to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council for leave to appeal from this judgment, and the application has been refused with costs.

"This decision sets at rest a contention which has frequently been made in late discussions in the press that the Imperial Act was not in force in this country."

WOOD PULP DUTY AFFIRMED.

THE United States Treasury Department won an important victory on August 4, when the Federal Circuit Court for the Northern District of New York handed down a decision affirming the action of the Board of General Appraisers in levying a countervailing duty on wood pulp made from wood cut on the crown lands of Canada.

The differences between the United States and Canada regarding the countervailing duty have been the subject of considerable customs litigation. The International Paper Company and other large paper interests have evinced much interest in the outcome of the fight. The test case just decided stood in the name of the F. W. Myers Company. The importers contended that the American Government has no right to impose a countervailing duty upon pulp imported from any part of the Dominion of Canada, and that in any event the extra duty cannot be imposed upon pulp manufactured in Ontario from wood cut on crown lands in the Province of Quebec. Another point insisted upon by the importers was that the countervailing duty was not leviable on pulp imported from Quebec except as to the extent that it is made from wood cut from crown lands, and upon which there has been a reduction of the stumpage dues.

Judge Ray in his decision denies the allegations of the protestants, and says the pulp cannot escape the countervailing duty because the tax is called an export duty in the United States and a "licence" in Canada.

GROSVENOR'S "BOOK OF THE PRESIDENTS."

GROSVENOR'S "Book of the Presidents," concerning the sale of which we made note in our issue of February 20, 1904, has been purchased by the Bureau of History and Biography, of which the address is Colorado Building, Suite 804, Washington, D. C. The same concern also publishes a steel finish engraving entitled "Theodore Roosevelt, his career in pictures," containing ten separate scenes of the life of the President, namely, as a Boy of Ten Years, as a College Student, as a Rancher, as a Hunter in Hunting Costume, as Assistant Secretary of the United States, at the Battle of San Juan, as Governor of New York, as Vice-President of the United States, as President of the United States, and the President and His Family.

OBITUARY NOTES.

GEORGE E. LANE, who formerly kept a book and stationery store at St. Albans, Vt., it is reported, committed suicide at Saugus, Mass., last week, by drowning. Mr. Lane, a short time ago, went through bankruptcy proceedings at St. Albans, but settled every cent of his indebtedness by paying his creditors one hundred cents on the dollar.

ALEXANDER MELVILLE BELL died in Washington, D. C., on Monday, August 7. Professor Bell, like his father, Alexander Bell, was notable for developing the art of instructing the deaf and dumb in methods of communication. He was born in Edinburgh, March 1, 1819, and taught in the University of Edinburgh from 1843 to 1865. He came to Canada in 1870 as professor of elocution at Queen's College, Kingston. In 1881 he went to Washington, and has since devoted himself to literary work, especially treating of orthoepy, phonetics, stenography and elocution. He was at one time connected with the school of vocal physiology established in Boston by his son, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the telephone inventor. For three generations the members of this family have done marvellous work in the study of sound.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Critic for August contains an article full of information by Cyrus Townsend Brady on "Magazine Circulation and Advertising;" also the address entitled "Literature as a Pursuit," delivered by Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson before the Harvard Ethical Society; and a paper by William Elliot Griffis on "The New World of Books in Japan," which contains a description of the Imperial Library.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

WILFRID WARD has been entrusted by the literary executors of the late Cardinal Newman with the task of writing the Cardinal's biography.

E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM has agreed to produce two novels a year hereafter, and will have all his work published in this country bear the imprint of Little, Brown & Co.

WILLIAM LE QUEUX has completed his new novel, "Behind the Throne," which is based on the intrigues supposed to have gone on at the Quirinal in the later years of King Humbert's reign.

THE REV. W. H. KENT, a son of the well-known journalist and friend of Charles Dickens, Charles Kent, has been commissioned by the last surviving executor of Cardinal Manning to write a new life of the Cardinal. Mr. Kent was a member of the religious community at Bayswater founded by Cardinal Manning. Much new material, according to the London Athenæum, is at the biographer's disposal, including an affecting diary kept by Manning at Lavington during his wife's fatal illness; also that subject of many rumors, the paper on the Jesuits, suppressed by Mr. Purcell; and the important early correspondence with Gladstone, which that statesman, on Mr. Purcell's mistaken authority, believed and complained that Manning had destroyed. The volume will be ready for issue by Burns & Oates at the end of the year."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

R. A. BOICE, formerly of the Scientific American, now represents the advertising department of the Colver Publishing House.

JAMES L. CROWDER, formerly with A. C. McClurg & Co., succeeds Edwin W. Hall as representative of Charles Scribner's Sons.

"CAMERON OF LOCHIEL," by P. A. de Gaspe, recently published by L. C. Page & Co., was published by D. Appleton & Co. in 1890 under the title "The Canadians of Old."

RAND, McNALLY & Co. have just issued a story full of the spirit of mediæval romance by Gordon Hall Gerould, who christens his tale "Sir Guy of Warwick." The book specially appeals to young readers.

THE publishing business of the Cambridge University Press has been removed from Ave Maria Lane to Nos. 133-137 Fetter Lane, (St. Dunstan's House,) London, the premises recently acquired by the university.

THE next volumes to be published by Charles Scribner's Sons, in the Biographical edition of Robert Louis Stevenson's works, are "The Ebb-Tide," "The Merry Men," "Across the Plains," and "The Silverado Squatters," which contains "The Amateur Emigrant."

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, will publish shortly "Letters of a Self-

Made President," by James J. Neville, a well-known newspaper man. The book deals with the political, social and military questions of the present time. The letters are said to be very funny.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will have ready shortly "The Flight of Georgiana," a romance of the days of the Young Pretender by Robert Neilson Stephens; and "The Grapple," by Grace MacGowan Cooke, a striking new American novel of the struggle between employer and employee in the Illinois coal fields.

BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY have in preparation a new book by Edwin L. Sabin, entitled "When You Were a Boy." The greater part of the contents has already appeared serially in the Century Magazine. The volume will contain over fifty illustrations by Frederic Dorr Steele.

THE ART LEAGUE PUBLISHING ASSOCIATION have issued "The Artists' Year Book," compiled by Arthur Nicholas Hosking on the plan of "Who's Who," which gives a biographical directory of about 2500 artists, chiefly American, and is attractively printed and bound in keeping with the matter handled.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just published "The Early Associations of Archbishop Temple," by F. J. Snell, with a fine portrait of the late prelate; and has in preparation for the fall "The Preacher's Guide," by the Rev. Gilbert Monks; and "The Life and Work of the Rev. A. W. Momerie," the famous English theologian of the Broad School. He also has in preparation a work on "The Pastoral Use of the Prayer Book," by Bishop Paret, of Maryland. The work consists of a series of plain talks addressed more particularly to the clergy and to divinity students.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in preparation a work on "The Czar and the Autocracy," by an anonymous writer supposed to be a member of the Imperial Court of St. Petersburg. The book covers the "inside" history of the recent events. Some of the chapters in the book have already seen light in the London Quarterly and the National Review, where they created some attention.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just ready "The Psychic Treatment of Nervous Disorders," by Dr. Paul DuBois, of the University of Berne, an excellent translation by Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe and Dr. William A. White; and "Superstition in Medicine," by Dr. Hugo Magnus, translated by Dr. Julius L. Salinger, which presents the erroneous and fanciful beliefs regarding sickness and its cure that have prevailed in the world from the days of ancient Rome to the present hour.

HENRY HOLT & COMPANY expect to publish at once a book by Professor H. P. Willis, of Washington and Lee University, on "Our Philippine Problem." The trend of the author's discussion may be inferred from the fact that he was at one time editorial writer on the New York Evening Post, and later

Washington correspondent of the Springfield Republican. His frank discussion of the actual working of our colonial administration is based, however, on personal observation in the Philippines.

THE GRAFTON PRESS have just ready the "Postal Dictionary," formerly published by the New York Evening Post. The compilation is still in the hands of Edward St. John, who in this ninth edition has revised the work down to April, 1905. He gives in short paragraphs, alphabetically arranged, not only the elementary information sought for by the inquirer, but many important facts that are only found elsewhere tucked away in not easily accessible government publications. While not itself an official publication, many postmasters find the volume useful for ready reference in their offices.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish at once the eighth volume of the American Nation series, which is entitled "Preliminaries of the Revolution," by Professor Elliott Howard, of the University of Nebraska. The author aims to show what the issue between England and the colonies really was, and why people who had lived under one general government for a century and a half could no longer get on together. He points out the long antecedent causes leading to independence, and shows how for many years the colonists had been unconsciously preparing for their larger freedom. The period covered is from about 1763 to 1775.

C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY, Boston, will shortly publish "Jay Gould Harmon," by George Selwyn Kimball, a tale of Maine life among the pines that promises to rival "Quincy Adams Sawyer" in interest and popularity; and "Lords of the Soil," a story of the life of the white settlers and the Indians of Long Island and Shelter Island in the 17th century. The authors are Mrs. Lydia A. Jocelyn, a direct descendant of Major Gordon, one of the first settlers of Long Island, and Nathan J. Cuffee, a full-blooded Indian who became totally blind in a railroad accident some time ago. He is descended from the Montauk chieftain who suffered so much from the pale faces, according to the story.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO. have just issued "Webster's Little Gem Dictionary," abridged from Webster's "International Dictionary," which gives about 23,500 words in its main alphabet, selected with remarkable insight into the daily needs of average business, up-to-date Americans. It includes a "Gazetteer" including all places in the United States of more than 10,000 inhabitants and all foreign places of more than 40,000 inhabitants; and a surprisingly complete list of foreign words and phrases. It also gives names of presidents and vice-presidents, postal rates, weights and measures, legal holidays, rules for pronunciation and capitalization, etc., giving in all about 28,000 entries to a most useful and neat looking book.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have on their fall list a new collection of poems by Dr. Minot J. Savage, entitled "America to England," from the poem read at the banquet to White-law Reid on the eve of his departure as Ambassador to England; "Money Inflation in the United States," a study in social pathology by Dr. Murray Shipley Wildman, who greatly deprecates the demand for radical changes in our monetary system; and the second volume of "Portraits of the Eighteenth Century," for which they have secured the skilled services of George Burnham Ives, known for his brilliant translations of the masterpieces of Dumas, Daudet, Balzac, George Sand and others. Dmitri Merejowski's novel about "Peter and Alexis" has been translated by Herbert Trench, and is said to present a strong picture of the giant Tsar Peter; and a very attractively bound little cook book by Olive Green will be called "What Shall We Have for Breakfast."

H. M. CALDWELL COMPANY have just brought out "In Bohemia," by James Clarence Harvey, the well-known author and after-dinner speaker. The book is alive with wit and clever ideas, some of them with a touch of pathos, and its pages are enlivened with Bohemian sketches in color and in black and white by Mucha, the renowned French poster artist, Outcault, of "Buster Brown" fame, and Francis P. Sagerson. The book is bound in three distinct styles—in cloth, full limp chamois and in full silk in a novel box matching the bindings. They have also just ready a companion volume to the "Reflections of the Morning After," entitled "The Log of the Water Wagon, or, the Cruise of the Good Ship Lithia," by Bert Leston Taylor and W. C. Gibson, both on the staff of Puck. The book is decidedly original in conception, giving the rules and regulations of the "Water Wagon," as well as dealing with the cruise of the Lithia until she foundered on the sixth day out in a terrific dust storm. The illustrations and border designs by M. L. Glackens and the eccentric cover add much to the general effect. There will be two editions—the Blue Ribbon and the Extra Dry.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BALTIMORE, MD.—The Cushing Company has sold its publishing business to the Kelly-Benson Company.

DAVID CITY, NEB.—The Nebraska Book-Mart, dealers in Americana and the rarer scientific books almost exclusively, has sold out its business to Dr. R. Ellsworth Call, for some time its manager, and the stock will be transferred to New York in September. Dr. Call assumes all liabilities and all claims will be promptly met. The new firm name will be the Metropolitan Book Company.

MOULTRIE, GA.—F. M. Welch, bookseller, has sold out to H. D. Woolard.

NEWARK, O.—Horney & Edmiston, booksellers, have been succeeded by J. M. Edmiston.

PROVO, UTAH.—The business of W. H. Gray & Co., booksellers, is being continued by W. H. Gray and Andrew Drysdale.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

New and Recent Important Publications

BROWNING'S "MEN AND WOMEN," with introduction by W. BASIL WORSFOLD. (The King's Poets.) 260 pp., 323 pp., 16mo. 2 vols. Boards, $3.00.

CHAUCER'S KNIGHT'S TALE or PALAMON AND ARCITE. By GEOFFREY CHAUCER. Done into modern English by the Rev. Professor WALTER W. SKEAT. (The King's Classics.) 106 pp., 16mo, boards, 60 cents.

CHAUCER'S MAN OF LAW'S TALE. Done into modern English by Professor SKEAT. (The King's Classics.) 125 pp., 16mo, boards, 60 cents.

CHAUCER'S PRIOR'S TALE. Done into English by Professor SKEAT. (The King's Classics.) 160 pp., 16mo, boards, $1.00.

CHILD'S GARDEN OF VERSES, A. By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON. 113 pp., 8vo, cloth, $1.50; leather, $2.00. Illustrated Edition.

The chief feature of this new edition of Stevenson's child verse is the numerous charming colored illustrations by BESSIE COLLINS PEASE, the well-known artist. The delicate and captivating work from the pencil and brush of this artist is in strong sympathy with these old favorite verses, which ever continue to delight both old and young.

CHRONICLE OF JOCELIN OF BRAKELOND, THE. A picture of monastic life in the days of Abbot Samson. (The King's Classics.) 285 pp., 16mo, boards, $1.50.

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE TOT. By EDMUND VANCE COOKE. 120 pp., 8vo, illustrated, cloth $1.50; leather, $2.00.

You will get more real pleasure out of this volume of child verse than any other you may possess. It contains all of Mr. Cooke's well-known child poems, many of which have been a feature in the Saturday Evening Post. A prominent critic, writing in reference to one of the poems in this book, said: "I know of nothing better in American literature, and I have never said this before to any other writer."

CYNIC'S MEDITATIONS, A. By WALTER PULITZER. 96 pp., 16mo, parchment boards, 75 cents; leather $1.00 (New Issue).

Mr. Pulitzer's clever book of cynical epigrams is still selling fast; the fourteenth edition is now in binding.

"DEFENSE OF GUENEVERE," THE, and other poems. By WILLIAM MORRIS. This volume contains almost all of the best of Mr. Morris's verse. (The King's Poets.) 255 pp., 16mo, boards, $1.50.

DEKKER'S GULL'S HORNBOOK. By THOMAS DEKKER. Edited by R. B. MCKERROW. (The King's Classics Series.) 134 pp., 16mo, cloth or boards, $1.50; vellum, $2.25.

EARLY LIVES OF DANTE, THE. Comprising lives of Dante by BOCCACCIO, LIANARDO BRUNI, and other important records. (The King's Classics.) 159 pp., 16mo, boards, $1.00.

EIKON BASILIKE; or the King's Book. (The King's Classics.) 313 pp., 16mo, boards, $1.50.

EUTERPE. A collection of Madrigals and other Music of the 16th and 17th Centuries. Edited by CHARLES KENNEDY SCOTT. Vol. I. 23 pp., paper, 8vo, 60 cents.

FALSTAFF LETTERS, THE. By JAMES WHITE. (The King's Classics.) 113 pp., 16mo, boards, $1.50.

FOR EACH DAY—A PRAYER. Compiled by ELISABETH HAMILL DAVIS. 271 pp., 12mo, cloth, $1.25; ooze leather, $2.00.

In this book will be found many of the most beautiful prayers in the English language. Great care has been taken in selecting the material, so as to make the work helpful and uplifting. BISHOP DANIEL S. TUTTLE, DR. J. R. MILLER, DR. HENRY VAN DYKE and LEIGH MITCHELL HODGES are among those who have made special contributions to the book.

FRIENDSHIP'S FRAGRANT FANCIES. By CATHERINE RUSH MORIARTY. 167 pp., 12mo, illustrated, cloth, $1.25.

"These poems show a mastery," says the Indianapolis Star, "of the art of verse writing, and breathe throughout the free spirit of the West."

GAMES FOR EVERYBODY. By M. E. HOFMANN. 211 pp., 12mo, cloth, 50 cents. A thoroughly good book of indoor games at a popular price. Just the kind of book hundreds of people have been looking for.

GAMMER GRETHEL'S FAIRY TALES. From the popular stories of the BROTHERS GRIMM. Translated by EDGAR TAYLOR. Illustrations by Cruickshank and others. Square 12mo, 359 pp., cloth, $2.00.

New and Recent Important Publications—Continued

SILAS MARNER. By GEORGE ELIOT. Introduction by RICHARD GARNETT. (The King's Novels.) Illustration in photogravure. 340 pp., 16mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $2.25; vellum, $3.00.

SIX DRAMAS OF CALDERON. Translated by EDWARD FITZGERALD. (The King's Classics.) 497 pp., 16mo, boards, $2.25.

STORY OF CUPID AND PSYCHE, THE. Translated by W. ADLINGTON and edited by W. H. D. ROUSE. (The King's Classics.) 118 pp., 16mo, boards, 60 cents.

TALES FROM OLD FIGI. By LORIMER FISON. Fully illustrated. 219 pp., 4to, cloth, $4.50.

TEMPEST, THE. (The Lamb Shakespeare for Young People.) Based on Charles Lamb, with general introduction by Professor ISRAEL GOLLAN CZ. Illustrations by Helen Stratton. Square 12mo, 38 pp., cloth, $1.00; limp lambskin, $1.50.

THROUGH THE YEAR WITH EMERSON. Compiled by EDITH E. WOODS. 120 pp., 12mo, cloth, $1.00; leather, $1.50.

The selections used in this volume are carefully compiled from Emerson's essays, and arranged as a year book. The paper, fine printing in color, and binding, are of special interest to the booklover.

WANDERING WILLIE'S TALE. By SIR WALTER SCOTT. (Little Prose Masterpieces.) 64 pp., narrow 16mo, japan, 50 cents; leather, 75 cents.

A dainty little vest pocket edition printed in red and black.

WHAT TO HAVE FOR DINNER. By FANNIE MERRITT FARMER. 271 pp., 12mo, illustrated, cloth, $1.50.

Unlike most cook books, the menus in this book are not extravagant and wasteful, but are arranged for homes where moderate expenditure is the rule. The arrangement is that of simple menus for everyday use—it gives great variety—you can have a different menu each day for weeks, all arranged under the direction of one of the most skillful cooks in the country—and all at the very lowest possible expense.

WORDSWORTH'S PRELUDE. Introduction and notes by W. BASIL WORSFOLD. (The King's Poets.) 429 pp., 16mo, boards, $2.00.

WORTH OF SERVICE, THE. By LEIGH MITCHELL HODGES. 113 pp., 12mo, decorated, cloth, $1.25; leather, $2.00.

This new book by Mr. Hodges is meeting with well-deserved success, and gaining new friends daily. It was Mr. Mabie who said that Mr. Hodges' Essays deserved the widest circulation, for "not only are they good in themselves, but each has the highest merit of all art—suggestiveness."
